Leadership Message

As we reflect upon the events that have unfolded across our nation in the past month, it is incumbent upon us to address the growing challenges faced by our community with wisdom, patience, and unity. The reports from January 2025 paint a concerning picture of escalating communal tensions, legal disputes over religious sites, and instances of violence and discrimination against Muslims.

In Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, and several other states, we have witnessed a disturbing rise in communal violence, with 59 riots reported in 2024 alone, marking an 84% increase from the previous year. These incidents have not only led to loss of life but have also sown seeds of mistrust and fear among communities. In Sambhal, the situation around the Shahi Jama Masjid has escalated, resulting in loss of life and increased religious friction.

The demolition of religious and historical structures like the Mubarak Manzil in Agra and various mosques and dargahs under the guise of anti-encroachment drives further highlights the need for us to engage in constructive dialogue with authorities to protect our heritage while respecting the law. Moreover, the cases of alleged cow vigilantism, where individuals like Qureshi from Moradabad and Yusuf in Delhi have lost their lives, must jolt us into action. We must advocate for the rule of law over vigilante justice, ensuring that no one takes the law into their own hands, regardless of their beliefs or affiliations.

The introduction of the Uniform Civil Code in Uttarakhand presents both challenges and opportunities for our community. While we respect the law of the land, we must also ensure that our voices are heard, our rights are protected, and the diversity of our cultural practices is acknowledged within the framework of this new legislation.

As we move forward, I urge each one of you to remain vigilant about your rights and the legal avenues available to address injustices, engage in peacebuilding within your local communities, foster interfaith dialogue and cooperation, educate ourselves and others about our rights and responsibilities as citizens, ensuring we are informed and prepared to discuss these issues with clarity and respect, and support those affected by violence or discrimination, providing legal, emotional, and financial aid where possible. We stand at a critical juncture where our actions can either exacerbate division or pave the way for reconciliation. Let us choose the path of peace, understanding, and mutual respect.

TMC's campus power struggle over Saraswati Puja fuels Bhartiya Janta Party's communal narrative in West Bengal. The recent controversy at Kolkata's Jogesh Chandra Law College underscores how political lumpenism characterised by intimidation, threats, and the unchecked influence of Trinamool Congress (TMC) cadres in West Bengal's educational institutions has become a recurring embarrassment for Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's government. The dispute started over an internal disagreement about puja arrangements. Day College students allegedly erected a pandal that obstructed the Law College's planned puja. Students alleged that Sabir Ali, an alumnus and student leader of Trinamool Congress Chatra Parishad (TMCP), along with outsiders, threatened them with rape for their initiative. A student then petitioned the Calcutta High Court, which ruled that separate pujas should be held for the Day College and Law College departments. The court also ordered police to dismantle an illegally erected pandal within the Day College premises. 'Political circles are falsely framing it as Muslim opposing the puja.' (The Wire)

A 27-year-old Muslim student of Aliah University was assaulted on a Sealdah-bound train in West Bengal by a group of 10–12 Hindutva men. According to Rezaul, the issue began when a passenger asked him to remove his trolley bag from the luggage rack. Though he obeyed without protest, a group of men attempted to force him out of his seat. They shouted communal slurs, calling him a “Bangladeshi” when he resisted. For nearly an hour, about a dozen people attacked him, despite him stating that he is an Indian citizen. When his friend, Sajid Mirza, attempted to record the assault, he was met with threats of being thrown off the train.(Maktoob Media)

Muslim rickshaw driver killed in Bangladesh. Footage viral with false claim of murder of Hindu student. In reality, the body of a man named Nayan Miya was recovered from the Brahmaputra River in Sonargaon upazila of Narayanganj district. Nayan Miya was reportedly an autorickshaw driver and a resident of Sonargaon area. The police suspect the involvement of a snatching gang behind the murder. Overall, the deceased in the viral video is a Muslim rickshaw puller, Nayan Miya, and not the Hindu student leader Sumon. The murder probably took place due to theft, and there was no communal angle in it.
